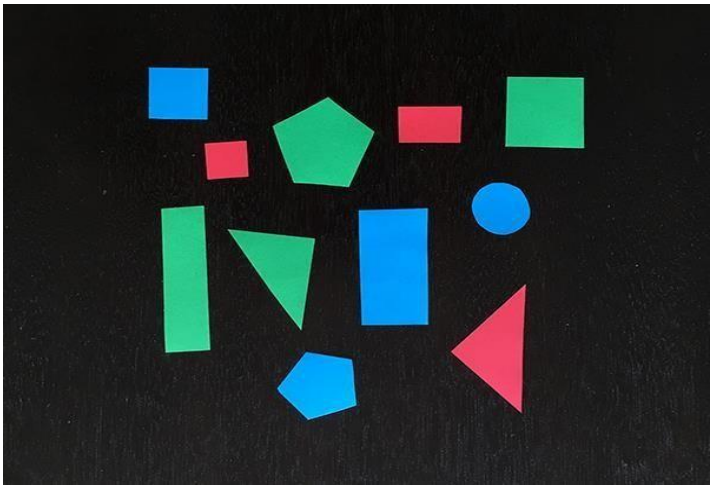
Just a PDF file to replicate

This is a pdf to scan and extract images and text into separate files.

There are two images in this example file.

The python language logo:

The crown on top isn't actually part of the logo but it looked good so I let it be.


The other image is just a random image of shapes of different colors.